Fast Mail Service.

CHICAGO July 6—It is stated negotiations are well under way between the postoffice department and Wabash road by which it is proposed to carry through the plan of a fast mail between Atlantic and Pacific coasts by a different route from that originally spoken about by the postoffice department. This is necessitated by the refusal of the Chicago and Omaha lines to enter into an agreement. An agent of the postoffice department has been over the Wabash line and reports that to the Mississippi river it is as good as the Chicago line but west of that point somewhat new for the fast time proposed. The arrangement is to connect with a fast train of the Lake Shore road at Toledo and make the run over the Wabash to Council Bluffs by way of Hannibal. This route is only 30 miles longer than the Chicago route and it is believed the schedule time intended for the latter can be made over it. Chicago and Omaha roads are becoming agitated about the proposed change, as it will create a new through passenger route carrying those who would otherwise pass through Chicago and over these roads

Agriculture in Iowa.

[illegible] a few counties report heavy losses by [illegible]. There is general complaint of losses on pigs. Five hundred and forty-one townships estimate the number on hand at 11,343. In some localities thump and quinzy have proved fatal. There will be a shortage in the crop. Sheep are generally healthy. 459 townships report the number of spring lambs at 90 209. Small Pox in Indian Territory.

The adjacent country has suffered severely. Muskogee reports over $260 cases nearly all of whom died. There has been great lack of physicians and nurses and many deaths resulted from this cause. In isolated localities ravages of disease have been simply fearful, old and young being swept away. The people of Okmulgee hope the worst is over and it is believed precautions have been taken which will confine the pest to certain localities and soon rid [illegible] of it entirely and efforts also be made to assist patients in the country who require nursing and medicine.

[illegible] He had a drop of five feet [illegible] The rope too had the [illegible] and that would give him when the strain was taken out and [illegible] about [illegible] making the drop [illegible] of seven inches. He fell all of that. His head was clear. You know by the way he fell he must have had a pretty good fall. It has been [illegible] he would have [illegible] He was [illegible] the cap was tied quickly and what I did was [illegible] right [illegible] I had passed the rope around both legs. Truly was the first man I fixed the rope for and his neck was a clean break. He did not struggle at all. He just worked his shoulders a little. Jenkins was the next. Barney Wood never moved. John [illegible] struggled more than any of them. Tom Wright [illegible] struggle very much. He weighed 230 pounds when he was hung. Henry Young struggled very little and Stone didn't struggle any. His head came off entirely. This rope was sunk in the man's neck worse than in the cases of Bedford and Queen. They drew their knees up a little but Guiteau went down and hung for a little while before moving, he never knew what hurt him

Quarreling among the Guiteau Doctors.

WASHINGTON, July 6—The doctors appointed to conduct the autopsy on the body of Guiteau, Messrs. Lamb, Hartigan and Sowers are quarreling among themselves [illegible] in a small way, the rank [illegible] of the dozen or more physicians who attended to treat ex-President Garfield's wound, and Dr. G. M. Beard of New York was called to Washington at the request of Guiteau on the day before his execution to make his arrangements for the autopsy and he invited seventeen physicians to be present at the operation. Some of them came and those present deputized the physicians named above to conduct the autopsy. Copious notes were taken and Dr. Lamb, who is a surgeon in the medical museum, took possession of the memoranda and this morning notified his associates by letter that he had prepared a report and forwarded it for publication to the Philadelphia Medical News. Dr. Sowers in conversation with your correspondent this evening said: "I understand that Dr. Lamb has prepared a paper that he calls a report of the autopsy on the body of Guiteau. His paper cannot be termed in any sense a report. I think the public understanding that three of us were appointed to make a report, will scarcely be willing to accept the conclusions of one man as a true statement of the facts ascertained. The autopsy was conducted by Dr. Lamb, Hartigan and myself jointly and we are to have been able to reach a harmonious conclusion. Dr. Lamb by publishing his statement without inviting Dr. Hartigan and myself to approve it, has prevented such a result but we will join in the preparation of a majority report within a day or two."

Dr. Lamb said: "I have prepared the official report of the autopsy and it will be published tomorrow. I consulted the [illegible] and myself and no one else has authority to make a report. A man may have some assistance in writing a book but that does not compel him to print the name of his helpers on the title page. In my report I have given the gentlemen who helped at the autopsy credit for their labors but the report is mine. It is official and neither Drs. Hartigan or Sowers have any right or authority to affix to it their names

Guiteau's Body.

Monday night a wagon drove from the jail into [illegible] the [illegible] through which the rear of the army medical museum is reached. The wagon without [illegible] contained the body of Guiteau. At the army [illegible] museum to day none of the physicians or other officials would say anything about the whereabouts of Guiteau's body. They said simply that the body is not at the medical museum. It will be there in a day or two

WASHINGTON, July 6—The Critic of this city will [illegible] afternoon state that Guiteau's skeleton is being boiled at the medical museum for the purpose of removing all flesh before articulation. Commodore Shufeldt's Recall.

NAVY officers here are discussing with much interest the recall of Commodore Shufeldt from China where for over a year past he has been in the employ of the Chinese government superintending the construction of a Chinese navy. It is generally agreed that Shufeldt's recall is due to the fact that the Chinese government became aware that he had written a severe letter to Mr. Sargent when that gentleman was senator against Chinese and among other things impugning the chastity of the empress of China. His recall is reported here to be due to representations made by the Chinese legation in Washington to the home government. At the navy department another story is told. WHEELING, W. Va. July 6—The scene of the wreck [illegible] Scioto to day almost beggars description. The anguish of those looking for lost ones added to the wails and sobs of those bending over the inanimate forms of dead loved ones recovered from the water is terrible. An Associated Press reporter arrived at the scene at noon at which time only [illegible] had been recovered. Both banks of the river were lined with people making a crowd of perhaps 2000 persons. The work of dragging in the vicinity for bodies is still going on. Wm. Mulholland of Wellsville, O., under whose auspices the excursion on the ill fated Scioto was given, said the boat took on board about 250 passengers at East Liverpool and 150 at Wellsville. The boat was very much crowded and he refused to stop at other points where tickets had been sold. Taking his statements with others it is safe to say 500 persons were on board at the time of the collision.

Capt. Smith of Martin's Ferry who was on the John Lomas says when some distance from the Scioto he noticed the boats going to come together and made preparations for the shock. Both steamers had on a full head of steam. The Lomas was going down stream at the rate of 15 miles per hour and the ascending Scioto at the rate of 12 miles. It seems to be the prevailing opinion the collision resulted from misunderstanding or confusion of signals. Following is the corrected list of the missing:

Wood Bailey, J. B. Tomlinson, Wilson Paul, John Christy, Eugene Farmer, G. C. Thompson, Lincoln Wright, Benj. Stebbins, Lincoln Beardmore, Stephen Kent, Michael Emmerling, Mrs. Michael Emmerling, David Fried, Charles Leith, Charles Swearingen, C. Thompson, L. E. Estline and wife, Willie Farell, Jacob Gilson and wife, James Newman, Miss Dray and John Grouse, all of East Liverpool; Arthur E. Hoagland, Mr. Hunter, C. B. Armstrong, Wm. Ewing, Edward Thomas, Millie Booth, Charles Davidson, Lewis Harper, John Stevenson, B. H. Smith and two children of Wellsville, two Brosser boys of Steubenville and Cornelius Plummer of Washington, Pa. Total 40. Bodies recovered—Evan Burke, Harry E. Beardmore, Miss Belle Brannon, Mollie Shields, David Fargo, Edward Thomas, Charles Sprague, Sallie Kelley, Stewart Piper, Joseph Conner, Lincoln Beardmore, Harry Donnelly, Edward Duffy, Edward Smit. Total 14.

The work of hunting dead bodies is still in progress. The coroner of Jefferson county is on the ground and will commence inquest on bodies tomorrow. Investigation by government inspectors will take place at Wheeling.

MINGO JUNCTION, O. [illegible]—This morning the bodies of C. Swearinger of Kensington, Ohio, Dan. Pl[illegible], the captain's son, C. P. Smith of Wellsville, also a man by name Dupramer from Wellsville, Ohio, were found. About forty men came down with skiffs and a cannon from east Liverpool and are doing good work. By night they will secure about ten bodies more. A great many bodies were placed in the engine room and under the bow and wheel. [illegible] necessary apparatus prevents getting the bodies. Boats and grappling tools, diving bells, etc. are on their way from Pittsburg, and when the wreck is raised at least 30 to 50 bodies will be found. The missing are accumulating and with those found dead will amount to 60 or 70 and nearly all will be found in and around the wreck. Every hour brings people here hunting for absent ones and gives names not given before. The dead so far have been recognized and moved promptly to their late homes. Stewart Piper reported found yesterday is not found yet.

CALIFORNIA.

The Escambia's Position.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6—Careful examination has been made by divers of the position and condition of the foundered British steamship Escambia. The vessel was found lying on her side, bilge up, with her port rail on the ground and moving with the sea and tide, nothing holding her but the masts which are fast in the sand. The hatches are off and considerable grain is out of her. The wreck is in good position to be lifted as she must have considerable air in her besides what she had in her ballast tanks, for she is almost afloat. She lies in seven fathoms and has nine feet of water on her at low tide. She lies south southeast and north northwest with her head south southeast. Her main and mizzen booms are sticking out of the water. No bodies or moorings have been placed around the wreck. The vessel has not been injured.

San Francisco Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6—Executive meeting was held yesterday by the board of health for the purpose of considering the question of releasing the Belgic from quarantine. The question was discussed at some length and board finally decided not to release the steamer at least for the present.

The British steamer Cairnsmuir was thoroughly inspected to day by the quarantine officer and no smallpox reported. The vessel is the smallest of the [illegible] and is [illegible] ugly [illegible] [illegible] It is the opinion of those acquainted with such matters that the Cairnsmuir is a small steamer [illegible] carry 75 passengers and [illegible] the passenger act has been violated. Authorities will investigate this question and the vessel will soon be permitted to dock.

A Cool Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6—Last night Peter Goetz, a young Norwegian carpenter, was shot and killed by Luke Carty in the grocery store of the latter. Carty is in custody on charge of murder. There are conflicting statements concerning the homicide and the real object of the shooting is not known. Carty [illegible] alleged [illegible] came in the grocery store and found Goetz and a young Swede named Carl Anderson drinking beer. Without provocation it is stated Carty struck Anderson in the face and ran him out of the grocery and drawing a pistol discharged two shots at him. He returned and when Goetz remonstrated with him he shot him in the neck, causing death in a few minutes.

A Novel Amusement.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6—The white passengers who are detained on the steamer Belgic now in quarantine have adopted a somewhat novel plan of passing the time. Most of the passengers are Britons and greatly enthusiastic admirers of the national game of England, cricket. The deck of the steamer has been cleared and a cricket ground improvised. Here the game is indulged in several hours each day, nearly all passengers entering heartily into the sport.

The Roswell Sprague's Damages.

Damage by fire to the bark Roswell Sprague is not as heavy as at first supposed. The water has been [illegible] to float the hull in on the ways. A large portion of the cargo will be saved. The vessel will probably be repaired.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 7, 1882

PROHIBITION.

A correspondent of THE OREGONIAN at Howell Prairie writes: "In the name of reason where is the irrationality of your reasoning on the prohibition question to end? 'In towns and cities,' you say, 'no power can enforce prohibition.' In the town of Silverton in this (Marion) county, there are four or five whisky shops, and in Salem say a dozen. Now under a prohibitory law why could not these rum shops be closed and the sale and drinking of whisky be prohibited, just as you prohibit theft, murder, or any other crime? Nine-tenths of the drinking in any community is done by occasional drinkers—persons who drink from foolish habit, just to be social, you know. Such is my case. Now if the rum holes were closed these people would not go rummaging in search of some place where whisky was drunk on the sly, and the result would be the thing would soon dry up from sheer exhaustion. I really do not understand why, under prohibition, whisky shops could not be closed and the drinking and selling of the article be made both disreputable and criminal, and as a consequence stopped. In your arguments on this question you simply assert that prohibition is impossible; you do not give your reasons for holding that view. Please let us have them."

These are very queer remarks. They may perhaps be answered in the most effective way by the argumentum ad hominum. Prohibition cannot possibly be enforced because there are so large numbers who, like the writer of the above, want liquors and will have them. Perhaps he is right in saying that nine-tenths of the drinking is done by men of his class. Laws will not restrain them. Most of them, if questioned, would answer shortly that they drink when they think fit, and that it is nobody's business.

It cannot be made a crime "to sell or drink whisky, just as it is a crime to commit theft or murder." It is in fact no such crime, and no law can make it so. Common sense is invincibly against so absurd a notion. Our censor tells us that he is an "occasional drinker." Does he hold his act of drinking a glass of beer or spirits to be the same in morals as theft or murder? Or would he actually deem it so if the law called it a crime? We might here ask a question, "in the name of reason," about the "irrationality" of his remarks on the subject, but it is hardly necessary.

The law may declare it criminal to sell or drink a glass of beer, but that does not make the act a crime as theft and murder are crimes. It is no crime, according to any proper or accurate definition of the word. They who can't see why a law against selling or drinking liquors may not be enforced as easily as a law against theft or murder, are on an intellectual level with those who can't see the difference between actual money, or gold and silver, and fiat money, or irredeemable paper. Their mental machinery is in hopeless confusion. A real crime is an act of turpitude. It is such by the universal judgement of mankind. But it is not an act of turpitude for the man who wants a glass of spirits or beer to buy and drink it; he does not fall thereby, in the estimation of his fellow men, to the level of thieves and murderers; and hence the law against the liquor traffic cannot be enforced as are the laws against positive crime. It might be comparatively easy to enforce a prohibitory law in a place like Silverton. It is not a city, nor even a town. It is a rural village, where even the absurd custom of treating cannot prevail among a large number. To enforce such a law in Salem would be manifestly more difficult, and in Portland and still larger places impossible. Liquors are sold because there is a demand for them; and the numbers who create the demand, particularly in the cities, are so great that effective prohibition is impossible. Laws do not make the habits of a people. On the contrary, the habits of a people determine the efficacy of their laws. The fiat principle is as absurd when attempted here as when employed in the endeavor to create money out of paper and promises. We would advise the writer of the above communication, who belongs to the large class that drink occasionally, "just to be social, you know," to attempt a little legislation for himself. Better quit a bad practice than to become testy towards THE OREGONIAN because it has no faith in the efficacy of legislation that would vainly command him to quit it. We have no objection, however, to such a law, only we know it would be ineffective. The man who will not legislate for himself in such a matter, though he confesses that he might easily do so, will not tolerate any compulsion from the law. Law or no law, he will drink when he wants to drink. And this is just the reason why prohibition is impossible. Our friend would doubtless vote for prohibition, but he would still take a drink whenever he wanted it. Nor would he deem the act as criminal as theft or murder, no matter what the law called it.

THE CARPET WOOL TARIFF SWINDLE.

Among the most clamorous, persistent and intolerable beggars for more "protection" are the manufacturers of American carpets. They boast loudly of the benefit of protection to American industry and in particular they try to impress the wool-grower with the idea that he is a great gainer by it. But in fact never was a scheme more infamously arranged than this tariff on wool, and the carpet-manufacturers may well boast of the successful fraud by which they have duped the wool-growers of the country into support of their scheme of "protection." We have in reports of the census bureau complete returns of the wool manufacturing industry during the year covered by the census. The portion relating to the carpet business is well worth the special attention of the wool-growers of the west. The particulars are as follows: There are 190 establishments making carpets, employing 285 sets of cards, 165 combing machines and having $20,500,000 alleged capital. The materials used by these carpet-making establishments were as follows:

Foreign wool, pounds	34,044,252
American wool, pounds	2,0[illegible],819
Shoddy, pounds	60,630
Cotton warp, pounds	6,636,382
Value of products	$33,158,377

The American wool-grower will look in vain at this report of the materials used by these protected carpet-makers for that consumption of American wool in the manufacture of American carpets in consideration of which the American wool growers gave their consent to the enormous taxes imposed on carpets. Out of 42,000,000 pounds of material purchased by American carpet manufacturers, they purchased only 2,000,000 pounds of American wool! Now look at the tariff on carpets, levied under the pretext of "protecting American industry" and "promoting the growth of American wool:" Brussels carpets, 68 per cent tax on buyers; Brussels tapestry, 76 per cent; printed or colored druggets and backings, 96 per cent tax; patent velvet and tapestry, printed, 67 per cent tax; three-ply, ingrain and Venetian, 52 per cent tax; two-ply, 51 per cent tax on the purchasers of these fabrics. These are the kinds of carpets manufactured in this country, and these are the kinds with which 95 per cent of our people are supplied. The manufacturers profess to furnish a market for American wool, in consideration of which they are, by the tariff, authorized to levy and collect a tax on all carpets used in the country, which tax ranges from 51 to 96 per cent.

There is still another side to the swindle. The tax on imported wools—that is, clothing and combing wools—ranges from 12 cents per pound and 10 per cent ad valorem additional to 30 cents per pound and 33 per cent ad valorem additional, or from 45 to 75 per cent of their value. These high duties upon wools not so largely imported were placed there as blinds to deceive the American wool grower under the pretense of protecting his wool against foreign competition. But when the American industry engaged in making carpets came to that part of the tariff taxing carpet wools, they put the duty at the insignificant price of three cents per pound, and at that low rate they imported in 1881, 35,000,000 pounds of foreign wool with which to supply their great American industry, employing only 2,000,000 pounds of American wool.

On this exhibit the American wool grower may well ask himself: "How am I benefited by a duty of 50 to 96 per cent on foreign woods and on foreign carpets when the carpet manufacturers who have inveigled me into this supposed joint robbery of the public rarely buy a pound of my wool, and get the foreign wool they use at only three cents a pound duty?"

THE CANADIAN ELECTION.

The victory of the conservative party in Canada seems to have been complete. The reformers, notwithstanding a vigorous warfare upon the national policy in all its branches, were badly beaten. It is easy to understand the meaning of the verdict, if its underlying causes are not so readily to be discerned. There was only one issue worth mentioning in the campaign—the support of the National Policy; including the pushing forward of the Canadian Pacific to completion, the granting of liberal sums for this and all other schemes of internal improvement, and the maintenance of a system of heavy taxation for this development of the country, and the protection of its industries. It could scarcely be doubted to which side a young and ambitious colony, with great possibilities of development in its territory, and population, would incline; especially as it was not a question of which course it would now adopt, ab initio, but whether it would go forward in the line of policy already adopted, or sound a retreat after millions have been spent in making an advance. Nor can we blame our nearest neighbor for persisting in a course which we have made attractive by our own example. The issue was made too wide for wisdom by the reformers. Had they attacked the system of taxation alone and the abuse of monopolies chartered by the government, they would have occupied good fighting ground. When they asked for a total reversal of policy, and declared hostility to those works which have cost the dominion such enormous sums in proportion to population, they courted their own defeat. Canada is enthusiastically progressive, and her people are ready to bear their heavy burden for the sake of the coveted internal improvements. The best wish that can be expressed for them in this determination, from our side of the boundary, is that the national policy may never become an instrument for robbing the people in the interests of jobbers; and that when this tariff shall have raised up manufactures, the manufacturers may not be able to bind it, a veritable old man of the sea, upon the shoulders of the people forever.

The part which Turkey is playing in the dispute about Egyptian affairs discovers new methods of sagacity in her diplomatic service. It has puzzled the powers to a remarkable degree. Turkey does not relinquish her claim to the sovereignty of Egypt. But she refuses to exert herself to maintain the authority of the khedive against the revolutionists and behaves altogether in a way not satisfactory to England. Armed interference by England and France in Egypt would be an infringement upon rights which Turkey claims; and the course of the latter suggests a design to bring to her protection such powers as Germany and Russia. Should this succeed, then indeed, would the states of Europe be confronted by a most delicate and complicated question in the decision of which the porte would exercise an influence far superior to that guaranteed by her normal status in the international college. The governments of France and England appear to recognize the gravity of the juncture, and by their patience, preparation and evident desire to bring about a peaceful solution indicate their just apprehension of the results of a failure to arrive at such a pacific resolution. Turkey is playing the khedive, Dervisch pasha and Arabi pasha as so many pieces on the political chess-board, and, so far, seems to be master of the situation. It is extremely difficult for France and England to carry out their views without resorting to arms, and as they are exceedingly loath to do this, the sultan makes use of the same audacious tactics that served him so well in the Greek question.

Mrs. Jesse James has retired from the lecture field, quite disgusted with the results. She nowhere had a paying audience, and in the great city of St. Louis only forty were present. She got no farther, and incontinently departed for home. The result is creditable to the people where she exhibited. It would indicate a very low state of civilization where a respectable number of people could be found willing to glorify the murdered outlaw.

General Sheldon, governor of New Mexico, has been taking things in his own hands and carrying out his peculiar views in an unheard-of manner. A few days ago he ordered a man hung after his sentence had been commuted by the president, and wrote an insulting letter to Attorney-General Brewster about the affair after that official had telegraphed the United States marshal to protect the prisoner at all hazards. The man was not hanged.

Are we never to hear the last of Guiteau? His body being under ground, his brain is now the subject of a disgusting quarrel. The hangman's talk which comes by telegraph, is cheerful and interesting. The body should be dug up and the process of decay carefully noted and telegraphed over the country. The nastier the better, seems to be the motto of the correspondents.

New oil wells of surprising productiveness have been struck at Warren, Pa. One well flows, by careful calculations, 2712 barrels in a day, two others 2400 each, and a fourth 1500 barrels—making the total product near 10,000 barrels in the space of 24 hours. This result is unparalleled.

Commodore Schufeldt, who went to China a year ago by invitation of the Chinese government to reorganize its navy, has, it seems, been too "handy with his talk," and will be sent home. The commodore doubtless told the truth, but in so doing outraged both discretion and taste.

The railroads which so flatly refused to carry the mails between New York and the Pacific coast faster, are to lose by their arrogance it seems. The telegraph brings assurance that we shall have faster mail service and another through route.

Another dirty sea-tramp with a dirtier cargo of coolies, has arrived at San Francisco. This can't last much longer.

CITY.

TRIAL OF HIGHWAY ROBBERS.—Sheriff Sears went to Salem yesterday and returned with two convicts from the penitentiary who will be tried in the state circuit court before Judge Stott on a charge of highway robbery. Their names are John McKean and William Smith. Both men were convicted in Marion county and sentenced to the penitentiary, McKean for 15 years and Smith for 1 . . . years. They belonged to the celebrated gang of Marion county robbers, who set the whole state . . . wild with excitement for their exploits, robbing stores, saloons, farms and farm houses, and eluding the sheriff's . . . a great posse, the capital guards of Salem and hundreds of volunteers who were in pursuit. However, they were finally captured, tried . . . and sentenced as above stated. Over a year ago these same desperadoes stopped . . . Beaser and Dr. Thessing on the White house road, and robbed Dr. Thessing of a gold watch and both victims of their money. For this offense they were indicted in Multnomah county, and when they were captured Sheriff Buchtel went after them, but the Marion county authorities refused to surrender their prisoners until they were through with them. The matter was permitted to rest there, Judge Stott preferring not to interfere until they were tried and sentenced in Marion county. Now the circuit court for Multnomah county is ready to try these men. Sheriff Sears had no trouble in obtaining them as prisoners to be returned as such. They were both heavily shackled during the trip. McKean is a desperado of the worst class, and would seize upon the slightest chance for an escape.

THE MIDDLE CHANNEL ON THE BAR.—Last Wednesday, Capt. Powell, in company with Capt. Buchanan and Capt. Bochan, pilot of the State of California, made an investigation of the new channel forming in the middle sands. They report the prospects as very favorable for the speedy opening of this middle channel to all vessels. It has already reached a depth equal to that of the north channel, and Capt. Bochan says he is now satisfied that it is the best channel for his vessel, and he will hereafter take the State of California through it. The revolving harrow which is now at work is believed to be a success, and Capt. Buchanan will give it a thorough test during the next few days. Two tugs are at work every day, and Capt. Powell says he hopes to be able to have funds enough furnished to continue the work until 24 feet at low water is obtained. All pilots in Astoria are greatly pleased with the progress already made.

SAFELY OVER.—Yesterday the steamer Mountain Queen, Capt. Troupe, towed the barge Atlas from The Dalles to the upper Cascades, and then made the descent of the Cascades. The trip was accomplished in less than eleven minutes without accident or remarkable incident. From the upper Cascades on the Oregon side, the regular passenger train raced with the steamer, giving passengers an excellent view of the descent. The boat beat the train to Bonneville about 300 feet. Immediately after the boat started down, the barge, under command of Capt. Fred. Wilson, sailed down stern first, using only the canvass on the foremast. She made the trip in thirty-five minutes without the least accident. The Queen took hold of her and towed her to this city, and within ten minutes after her arrival, the barge was in service by the side of a ship.

WHISKY AS A DETECTIVE.—John Wilson got drunk and was taken to the city jail, where they found three watches on him. This led to an inquiry and F. Gatens, the pawnbroker claimed them. When Wilson got sober he tried to get out of the dark cell and succeeded in getting up some boards in the floor, when he was discovered. He will be tried for grand larceny to-day.

SOONER THAN EXPECTED.—Boys, it will be necessary to save your dimes immediately. Sherman's educated horses and family circus will be here Wednesday, the 19th inst.—only 12 days to wait—and the tent will be pitched on the old rink block on Fourth street, between Pine and A. They will probably show nine nights. The bills will be up to-morrow.

SLIGHT FIRE.—About three o'clock yesterday afternoon an alarm was turned in from No. Three's engine house. The fire was discovered in a Chinese barber shop at No. 131 Second street, a leaking gas pipe having become ignited. The Chinamen, with the assistance of Officer Henline, extinguished the blaze before the engine arrived. The damage was slight.

THEFT FROM THE PEST HOUSE.—Jack McDonald, the toughest kind of a tough, who stole some blankets and other house-keeping effects from the small-pox hospital, had an examination before Judge Moreland in the police court yesterday and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury in the sum of $500.

LAWN PARTY TO-NIGHT.—Should the weather be pleasant to-night, and such are the indications, a very enjoyable evening can be spent at the Unitarian social to be held on the grounds of Mrs. H. L. Pittock. The ladies have not been idle in preparing entertainment for guests, who will be heartily welcome.

INJURED IN A RUNAWAY.—A report reached here yesterday that Joseph Connell, a brother of Wm. Connell, of this city, or William, the latter's son, was dangerously injured in a runaway accident near Hillsboro. No particulars could be obtained. Wm. Connell, Sr., started out to Hillsboro by team last night.

RETURNED.—Capt. R. H. Lamson, clerk of the U. S. courts, has returned from a long trip through the valley, where he sought rest and restoration to health. He derived great benefit from the hot springs on McKenzie river, sixty miles east of Eugene City.

ASSAULT.—Chas. Sibert is under arrest for assaulting Otto Kleeman with a brick or stone at the corner of Front and Jefferson on the afternoon of the Fourth. He was taken before Justice Greene and released on $200 bail.

NEW MINISTER.—Rev. W. Richards, late of the South Kansas conference, but transferred to the Columbia river, reached this city with his family by the State of California, and went to The Dalles Wednesday.

SUICIDE.—Ah Sun, keeper of a Chinese wash house on Front street, near Clay, committed suicide by hanging himself. Coroner Cooke held an inquest, but nothing was elicited concerning the cause of the deed.

APPOINTMENTS.—Bishop Morris has the following appointments for this month: Sunday, the 9th inst., morning, Corvallis; evening, Albany; 16th, Marshfield, Coos Co.; 23d, Ellensburg, Curry Co.

COMING NEXT WEEK.—Rev. Edward Trumbell Lee, the new minister for Calvary Presbyterian church will leave San Francisco for Portland by next Monday's steamer.

HILLSBORO RACES.

Fourth Day of the Annual Fair of Washington County.

TWO VERY UNINTERESTING EVENTS.

Lulu Riggs Wins the Half Mile Dash in a Canter, with Mayflower Nowhere—Edna J. Bags the Colt Stake.

[illegible]

Rep.—[illegible]

Sport—[illegible] but . . . they did not [illegible] of the railroad company [illegible] rates of fare, . . . The road is [illegible] to save a cord or two of wood, [illegible] hundreds of passengers. Then the track is [illegible] every horse [illegible] reported that Mulkey's [illegible] is really crippled up, and his stable companion, Josie B., nearly as bad. This keeps betting men away from the track, as they are afraid to buy pools upon any of their favorite horses.

[illegible]

Rep.—Have the races given satisfaction as far as heard from?

Sport—I believe they have, except the 2:45 trot yesterday. Many think Maggie Arnold was throwed off in that race, but I don't. They say she trotted in 2:38 or better about two weeks ago and I guess she did. Sould Tempest trot in 2:33 the day before that. But when he came to trot for the money, he could not trot in 2:48. So when Maggie lost, there was a big talk of taking McManus out of the sulky before the fourth heat and putting up a new driver. President Perkins was ripe for such a change and, had anybody made the complaint required by the rules, the driver of Maggie Arnold would have been unseated and somebody else substituted.

Rep.—Could a new driver have won it?

A FAIR MINDED CRITIC.

Sport—No, I think not. Old Lute had the black horse in excellent fix and knew nothing about it, of course. His friends won nothing on the race and the grangers milked the pool box.

Rep.—Then you think the best horse won?

Sport—Yes, and a good deal the best. Why the big black devil could have pulled old Hen Owens in a dump cart and won the race.

Rep.—Did you not have some pools on Pedro that influenced your judgment on the race?

Sport—Not a single dollar, sir, you may be sure. On the contrary, I had about $180 on Maggie Arnold, which I lost with a good grace.

Rep.—Speaking of that, do not you and the better men of your element always lose your money with good grace? Is it not policy for you to do so, from the fact that your profession meets with but little sympathy?

Sport—Not necessarily. I give my money with a good grace when I lose it fairly, but I can make a good hard "kick" if I find I am going to be robbed or jobbed out of it.

THE TRAIN REACHED HILLSBORO

In good time, and the attendance was larger than had been anticipated, for the country people were out in good force. The farmers' wives and their children were seated about the booths, while a score of satin-skinned thoroughbreds were walking around the enclosure before their noon meal. Such an assemblage of high-blooded stock was never before seen north of Sacramento. The pool stand was soon opened, and sales commenced on the three year old trot, in which were embraced the get of Altamont, Rockwood, Kisber and Hambletonian Membrino. The race was mile heats, 3 in 5, with five starters on the card; but just before noon Mr. Leach announced that Xilophone was withdrawn, and this left the race to be contested by homebred nags. The favorites were L. B. Lindsay's br. f. Jane L. and Jas. Misner's br. f. Edna J., each of which brought $10 against $3 50 for the field, composed of Joseph Buchtel's b. c. Sheriff, driven by Smiley, and a large bay filly called May Winkler, from Vancouver.

THE RACE WAS A FIZZLE,

For although nobody expected fast time, yet the betting had been so spirited between Mr. Jeffrey's filly and the Reedville mare that all the latters friends expected a good contest. In this they were doomed to disappointment, for when the drum tapped away went Edna J. with the lead and never was headed in the heat. Sheriff, by dint of some artistic driving, on the part of Harry Smiley, managed to save his distance; but the Reedville filly and the Vancouver filly got "the auctioneer" shaken in their faces, shutting them out of the race completely. The time was 3:05 and of the next heat 3:1–. In the third heat the brown filly acted badly and the stallion had become pretty steady, although short of work. She had gone nearly half a mile when she suddenly made a bobble and left her feet. While she was dancing a polka on the back stretch, Smiley sent Sheriff along and got well in front. Before Misner could get his mare under way again, the heat was hopelessly lost and Sheriff jogged under the wire in 3:13. While this heat was being trotted

AN AMUSING BIT OF CHAFF

Occurred between two Irishmen seated near us on the grand stand, which we give from memory:

Ned—"Say, Pat, me eyes are wake. Fwich of thim two Sheriffs is ahead now?"

Pat—"Wal, I b'lave that Buchtell's horse is afther winnin' the hait."

Ned—"Will that win the raish for him, d'ye think?"

Pat—"Noa; I think Jeff will be afther batin' Joe be a small majority. Yez can always depind on his carryin' Couch."

The fourth heat would lead the listener to believe that Jeffrey had carried Couch, for his pretty filly won the deciding heat in 2:44. There was some very angry language used toward the judges by the driver of Mr. Buchtel's colt, who charged them with giving him the word "go" when his horse was in a gallop under the wire. Our own idea was that the horse broke just as he got the tap, and it was then impossible to recall him. This is one of the unforeseen misfortunes that often occur in trotting races.

THE HALF-MILE DASH

Which followed was one of the heaviest betting races seen for a long time, for the reason that there were three fast horses from Southern Oregon entered and two from the Willamette valley. The Umpqua horse, Honest John, was not considered of much account until after he had warmed up and then those who had bought him in the "field" with Telego, began to realize that they had a good horse, while the backers of Silvertail and Mayflower saw that their money was about gone. The brown mare Lulu Riggs was an immense favorite, as will be seen by the following list of average pools sold:

Lulu Riggs	$10	$20	$15	$12	$8
Mayflower	6	12	8	7	3
Silvertail	3	5	4	3	2
The Field	4	6	5	4	3
	$23	$43	$32	26	$16

Considerable delay was experienced in getting the horses together at the half-mile pole, as Silvertail was fractious and Honest John very much disposed to run away. At last they moved up together and

THE STARTER'S FLAG FELL

On a straggling send off with the big gray horse far behind and hopelessly defeated at the start. Honest John and Lulu Riggs were the first off, followed by Mayflower and Telego. The excitement was wild on all sides, but the race was merely a strong gallop for Lulu Riggs, who won as she pleased in 51 seconds and proved herself a good one at that distance. About $2500 changed hands on this race, and people are beginning to talk about her as a second Premium. She was ridden by Sam Cooper, who scored on her his first victory during the week. We append a summary:

Purse $250, of which $50 to second horse. Half a mile to rule weights.

Foster Bros.' br. m. Lulu Riggs....1
Wm. Heffron's b. g. Honest John....2
Owner's ch. g. Telego....3
R. S. Perkin's b. m. Mayflower....4
Owner's gr. h. Silvertail....5
Time, 51 seconds.

Half-mile racing is favorite sport in Oregon, but we hope to see the day when it becomes restricted to two year-old colts.

TO-DAY'S RACES

Were a purse of $300 for all ages, to run a mile and repeat, and a consolation purse of $250 for trotting horses defeated in the 2:30 and 2:38 classes, but this race did not fill, and another purse will probably be substituted. There will also be a ladies' equestrian tournament for prizes by the society. The running race filled with the following entries, to wit:

Cy. Mulkey's b g Joe Howell, by Bonnie Scotland—Etta Shippen, aged.

Foster Bros' ch h Connor, by Norfolk—Ada C., 5 years.

W. G. Scoggin's br h Jim Merritt, by Langford—Sweetwater, 5 years.

Jerome Porter's ch m Trade Dollar, by Norfolk—Eva Ashton, 6 years.

This is unquestionably the best field of horses ever turned loose in Oregon, and it is the only time within our memory that four horses of equal merit have met in as nearly equal condition. It will be a surprise party.

MILITARY AND PERSONAL.

[Vancouver Independent.]

Gen. H. A. Morrow returned on Monday from court martial duty at Port Townsend.

Capt. John C. White and Lieut. John Pope, Jr., 1st artillery, were at the post during the last week.

There was born at Fort Walla Walla, June 29th, a son, to the wife of Lieut. James Ulio, 2d infantry.

Capt. Cullen Bryant has been announced in orders as chief ordnance officer of the department of the Columbia.

The wife and daughter of Capt. James A. Haughey, 21st infantry, sailed from New York for Cherbourg, France, on the 29th of June, on the steamer Westphalia.

The marksmen of the various posts in this department will assemble at Vancouver barracks August 12th to compete for places in the department team of 12. The department team contest will take place in September.

The evening of the 4th of July was rendered very enjoyable at Vancouver Barracks by a beautiful display of fireworks, the material for which was a present from the Mexican war veterans of Oregon and Washington to the officers of the post and department. The best piece, a great balloon, was presented by the Vancouver 4th of July committee.

Lieutenant Frank A. Edwards, First Cavalry, from Fort Klamath, and Lieutenant I. F. R. Landis, First Cavalry, from Fort Lapwai, who have been on duty at the barracks, purchasing horses for their regiment, have returned to their respective stations, the board of which they were members having been dissolved.

Message from the Sea Announcing the Loss of the Alexandria.

Yesterday, Mr. Henry L. Hoyt, U. S. shipping commissioner, received the following letter:

WEST BERKELEY, Cal., June 25, 1882.

To the Shipping Master of Portland, Oregon—SIR: This piece of paper was picked up in a bottle on the beach in this town by Bartlett R. Holmes. The paper was wet, as the bottle was cracked. As the writer wished the paper sent to the Portland shipping office, I took it upon myself to send it to Portland. Respectfully, B. R. HOLMES.

The enclosure reads as follows:

Ship Alexandria sunk Lat 13 Lon 8 in a gale none of the pumps would work only about 1 foot of waters edge Captain Benson [or Benson]

Finded give at once to Portland & Astoria shipping office.

The note is written on tea paper of pinkish hue with pencil. Some of the words are as legible as print while others show unsteadiness. Inquiry at the Merchant's Exchange shows that no vessel of that name is known to be headed for this port, and the latest number of Lloyd's Shipping Register has no such vessel as the Alexandria, though there are several Alexanders. The name Alexandria is plainly written and the "i" is dotted. Longitude 8 east, latitude 13 south is in the South Atlantic ocean, off the west coast of Africa, while latitude 13 north is on land south of the desert.

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 7 1882.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

THURSDAY EVENING, July 6.

The weather for the last week in the Willamette valley has been such as to further our prospects of a good crop, as there have been showers of rain and cool weather during the most of the interval. At this writing there are indications of rain, and we feel inclined to say that a fair crop for the valley is now assured, and which will aggregate about one hundred and thirty thousand tons for export in wheat and flour.

We are sorry to say that such a favorable condition of affairs does not exist in Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory; prolonged hot weather and northerly winds have resulted in stunting the spring sown grain in almost all positions, and the most of it will produce not more than an average of twelve bushels per acre. The fall-sown and summer fallowed ground invariably looks well, but as an average will not produce as well as last year, and we do not think the total yield of that section of country will be above seventy-five to eighty thousand tons, as against one hundred thousand tons for the season previous. The crops on Snake river and north of it are not so far advanced but that timely rains may result in materially increasing this estimate; but the spring was so backward that late sowing almost universally looks bad for the time of year, and is another admonition to those east of the mountains that summer fallowing and fall sowing is the only sure means of farming in that section of country to give a guarantee of good crops.

We see nothing in foreign advices up to this date to justify a conclusion that higher prices will prevail than we have named as probable for the new crop in these columns. England seems to be having timely rains and brilliant weather, and nothing but what is favorable is known from the continent. The Western States are also engaged at harvesting a good crop which will result in greatly depressing the foreign market.

FREIGHTS.

Freights rule as stagnant as we have noted in our weekly reports previous and while the owners of ships seem indifferent to accept current rates we think it is only a question of time when they will be obliged to do so or load on owners' account. Of course it is yet six weeks before new wheat will commence to come forward in any quantity and it will therefore be two months before any are despatched from the port, during which time many changes may happen.

The freight situation at San Francisco is reported June 30 as follows: The following is a summary of the engaged and disengaged tonnage in port and on the way yesterday morning:

In port.	1882.	1881.
Engaged, tons	33,700	48,765
Disengaged	40,200	600
On the way	234,300	352,200
Total	308,200	401,500
Decrease for 1882		33,300

The amount of tonnage under engagement yesterday to load wheat was 90,200 tons, against 42,300 tons for the corresponding date last year, showing a decrease of 12,100 tons. There were 22 vessels under engagement yesterday morning at this port to load wheat. The engaged and disengaged tonnage in port has a wheat carrying capacity for 110,800 short tons, against a capacity for 73,000 tons on the corresponding date last year, being an increase of 36,900 tons.

BAGS.

There is no change here in bags. The situation is controlled by San Francisco, which is reported as follows by advices of June 30: The imports of grain bags, both Calcutta and Dundee, have been very light this year, as compared with the two or three previous seasons. Last year there were received from Calcutta by seven sailing vessels some 22,000,000, and by steamers about 10,000,000, making a total from that port of 32,000,000 bags. This year there are not expected to arrive by sail and steamer over 12,800,000, according to estimates of those in the trade. Nearly 6,000,000 bags and yardage were received last season from Dundee, while it is claimed that the shipments from there this year will hardly reach 2,000,000. The carry-over stock from last season was considerable, but it is now calculated that the full supply for this year's wants will be at least 13,000,000 to 16,000,000 less than last year's. Whether these figures are correct or not it is evident that holders are encouraged by the prospect of large requirements from Oregon and Washington Territory, together with those of this state. The barley crop particularly will consume a very considerable quantity this year. Last year's consumption of new bags was estimated at over 31,000,000, as follows:

Wheat crop, California	18,000,000
Barley	4,500,000
Oats and rye	1,200,000
Corn	1,500,000
Yardage, used for baling, making bean and salt bags, etc.	1,000,000
Resacking old wheat	500,000
Shipments to Oregon and Washington Territory	4,000,000
Shipments to Hawaiian Islands, etc	500,000
Total	31,300,000

For corn, oats and barley, and resacking wheat, in addition to the above, probably some 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 of second-hand bags found use. The corn crop last year could not have been much short of 4,500,000 bushels, or the oat crop 4,000,000.

The market could not be duller. Dealers have large stocks of medium and low grade Eastern Oregon on hand, and are willing to meet buyers at a concession of two to three cents a pound lower than ruling prices a fortnight ago. But even this will not induce business and there is nothing doing. If choice wools were in market some business might be done, but there is little of this kind here, and it is said, but little to come. We quote prices at 17 to 22 for Eastern Oregon and 20 to 23 for Willamette valley of the coarser kinds, while the finer grades would sell at 24 to 25 cts.

SALMON.

There is no notable change in the run on the lower Columbia. Cannery men claim that the pack up on the river is not more than four-fifths of what it was last season, and furnish figures which appear to sustain their estimates. A canner wrote a private letter to his agent in this city on July 3d, as follows: "I never saw salmon run so light since I have been in the business as during the past two weeks for the corresponding time of the year, and the up put, to in my opinion, has fallen short during the two weeks about 45,000 or 50,000 cases. This looks as if the pack would be smaller than that of last year, taking into consideration that the pack up to the time mentioned was 'way behind." * * * "I understand the law we have been guided by for the last few years is not in force any more, and if we don't get our stock worked up in July we will fish into August, and no doubt others will do the same, and if such is the case the pack will be equally as large as last year." * * "I understand that the bulk of the fish has been contracted for." A fair quotation for salmon is $1 32½ per doz. for 1 lb tins f. o. b.

MARK LANE REPORT.

The Mark Lane Express, in retrospect for June, says that unfavorable weather prompted development of rust in wheat. Ears are small, but recent increase of warmth was favorable. The supply of home-grown wheat is small. Fine samples command an improvement. Foreign on spot steady considering large arrivals. Supply off coast somewhat weaker Friday. Maize firmer in consequence of small amount American offering. European on passage for shipment advanced 6d per quarter. Wheat cargoes off coast inanimate, and have not materially changed. Thirty-nine cargoes arrived; ten sold and twenty withdrawn. Trade for wheat on passage very quiet, but Russian somewhat dearer. Sales English wheat during the past week 19,450 quarters at 46s 11d, against 19,371 quarters at 45s 4d corresponding period last year.

Portland Produce Prices.

Flour is quiet and prices continue steady. The shipping demand is very good. Local trade for standard brands is brisk. Stocks on hand are not large and receipts are not so heavy as of late. The oat market is a trifle improved. Advices from San Francisco to-day state that new oats have already been received there. The barley market has improved and prices are more firm. The demand, however, is not equal to the supply, and prices rule in buyers' favor. Baled timothy hay continues very scarce. There is good reason to expect a fair crop this season. Cured meats are quiet but steady. Oregon sugar cured hams are very much wanted. Country cured hams are also wanted. There is rather a large supply of side meat on hand and sales are dull. Nothing new in lard. Dried apples are dull. Also dried fruits of all kinds. Advices from San Francisco indicate that the hop market is very quiet. Receipts of butter during the past week have been large and in consequence prices are a trifle weaker. In all probability there will be a decline. There is fair inquiry for choice country store butter. Onions are very quiet. Eggs are scarce and receipts during the past week have been very light, not equal to the demand. Prices are expected to advance. Chickens are firm and in fair demand. Receipts rather small. There are no potatoes in market. The demand for old potatoes is good. Receipts from California have been so small and the local demand so large that there is not a single sack of potatoes to be found in market to-day.

BAKER COUNTY NEWS.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

BAKER CITY, July 2.

The races are the great attraction here this week.

The surveying parties of the Oregon Short Line are in town.

Cattle, sheep and hogs command high prices in Baker and Union counties.

[illegible] offers 2000 acres of land for sale on very reasonable terms.

It was [illegible] in the shade yesterday, and was [illegible] at 8 o'clock A. M. to-day.

At a meeting of stockgrowers Saturday it was determined to prosecute stock thieves to the bitter end.

Two [illegible] men are in jail here awaiting examination on the charge of larceny of horses. There seems to be a regularly organized band of horse thieves in this and Union counties.

The prosecutions against persons for cutting timber on government land are a drawback to the lumber trade of this county. The government will neither survey the lands and bring them into market, or allow any one to cut the timber.
